Dear Stevenson Families,

September 15th was our first day of our Response to Intervention (RTI program) for the 2020-2021 school year at Stevenson. RTI is a means to expand our school's capacity to reach and support diverse learners. The RTI framework emphasizes intervention and progress monitoring through effective instruction and assessment. By utilizing the RTI program, teachers are able to address all students' unique learning needs with small group instruction.

This year, Stevenson is fortunate to have two credentialed intervention teachers who will be working with students for ELA and math intervention. Our intervention teachers are Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. Bowne. The intervention teachers are working on ELA or math skills with students in a Google Classroom Monday through Thursday during a specified time sent to students and families.

During RTI your student will be working on these skills to increase their confidence and progress in reading and/or math. The groups are fluid, so if they show strong growth in specific skills they may not receive the additional support from the intervention teacher for the entire semester.

We look forward to watching your child succeed in school this year! If you have any questions about your child's progress or our RTI program, please feel free to contact your child's teacher or me.

Sincerely,

Jill Johnson
